Teachers' Action for Health

Aims:

The project aims to:

- support teachers and educators to increase the knowledge, awareness, and experience of students who may need first aid intervention or emergency response in chronic diseases, by using digital education materials and to ensure the continuity of this knowledge and skills.
- ensure the sustainability of teacher development with digital educational materials, with a particular focus on Continuing Professional Development (CPD) of preschool and primary school teachers on first aid interventions/practices through 13 modules and chronic diseases through 8 modules prepared based on the needs determined by needs analysis.

Target groups:

- preschool and primary school teachers in partnering countries.
- teachers and educators who work in preschool and primary school level in other European countries.

Following multilingual results will be developed:

- Supporting the professional development of early and primary school teachers on digital skills and intervention methods to first aid, and chronic illnesses.
- Developing school-based first aid modules and intervention in physical injury and some chronic diseases.
- Increasing institutional capacity and professionalism to work at EU/international level: enhanced management competencies and internationalization strategies. Extending the network of each partner to different new geographies and sectors.
